The requirement for election of species is withdrawn for the reasons given by applicant in the last response.

USP 7060302 describes a composition comprising selenium and ammonium chloride, the composition said to be useful in water treatment, but does not teach passing the composition through a filter.

USP 6090290 describes passing a selenium-laden composition through an ion exchange bed comprising a quaternary amine functionality (col 5 line 37), but does not describe a selenium-bearing composition comprising a quaternary amine compound passing through a filter itself having a quaternary amine compound.

USP 5601721 describes using ion exchange materials to remove selenium from oil refinery wastewater, but does not describe using quaternary amines to do so.

USP 5616533 to Tavlarides is withdrawn from application against any of the claims for the reasons given by applicant in the last response.
